

ABOUT GDANSK

I have put together some info on Gdansk for you to get acquainted with this beautiful city. Once you're here, I'm sure you'll understand why I've made it my home for 6 years now.

There is lots to do here, so I hope you take some extra time to enjoy it.

As many flights arrive late and leave early, I have set up the hotel discounts from Thursday the 10th until Monday the 14th. Thursday night, for those interested, there will probably be many get-togethers around Old Town, watch social media for these gatherings. This will also give you a chance to see Old Town by night, and by day on Friday morning. As Friday is a national holiday, the streets should be less crowded, the best way to walk around.

Here are some links to the area:

The official Gdansk site: <https://www.gdansk.pl/en/>

Polish tourism board: <https://www.poland.travel/en/cities/gdansk-and-tricity>

11 fun facts: <https://keytopoland.com/post/gdansk-11-fun-facts-to-know-before-you-visit>

History from Britannica: <https://www.britannica.com/place/Gdansk>

For you trekkers: <https://www.earthtrekkers.com/best-things-to-do-in-gdansk-poland/>

Cultural info: <https://culture.pl/en/article/7-reasons-to-fall-in-love-with-gdansk>

Some videos:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=qnpnHGbu0y0>

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=rT2e5fQvZ10>

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=6U9YSmsnI0s>

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=M-yWznEUHv8> (in Polish with English subtitles)

As we get closer to the date, I'll post some theater, opera, and other events here too.

Cheers

Rob